

C.N.P. Bonspiel Postponed For One Week

Weather Man Fools Milt Congdon and Associates; Expect Entry of Twenty Rinks or More

Old Man Weather pulled a fast one on Secretary Milt Congdon and his executive last weekend when he threatened to send a spell of mild weather that would have destroyed ice conditions for the Crow's Nest Pass bonspiel, scheduled to start on Monday last. The bonspiel was postponed for one week because of the threatening conditions. The weather this week, however, has been perfect for curling, heavy frost and no snow. It is to be hoped that present weather conditions continue and give the boys a break.

The 'spiel prizes, for which 20 or more rinks are expected to compete, are exceptionally good. The International Coal and Coke Co. is to be congratulated on the prizes which are awarded the first prize winners of their competition. The prizes are four Schick electric razors. The other three International prizes, sponsored by the Coleman curling club, are Waterman's pen and pencil sets, carving sets and spot lamps.

The prizes in the other competitions are of an exceptionally high standard and competition is going to be keen.

Entries from Coleman are: Jim Kerr, skip, Wm. Hogran, A. Y. Dow and Robt. Burt. Harry Boulton, skip, Wm. Antle, H. Houghton and J. Liposki. Angelo Gentile, skip, Ed. Leier, Dr. Claxton and Pete Smith.

There are one or two men desiring to enter the 'spiel and it is possible they might prevail on others to form a rink and so have four rinks representing Coleman.

Harry Houghton Has Thrilling Naval Experiences

Took Part at the Evacuation of Dunkirk; Escorted Australian and South African Troops to Theatres of War; Saw German and Italian Prison Ship Sunk

HARRY HOUGHTON

Harry Houghton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Houghton, during the past year has crowded enough adventure into his young life to satisfy even the most ardent adventure seeker. He is leading stoker on H.M.C.S. St. Laurent of the Canadian navy.

Born in Coleman in Oct. 28, 1919, he moved to Calgary with his parents a few years later and received his education there. In March, 1938, he enlisted in the Canadian navy and was at once sent to Esquimaut, B.C. He has been on patrol duty in the eastern Atlantic and also on convoy duty for merchant ships sailing towards the British Isles. Probably his most hectic experience was at Dunkirk, where he took part in the evacuation of the British army from that port. Another thrilling experience was being present to rescue German and Italian prisoners, when a German sub sank the Arandora Star, which was bringing prisoners of war to Canada. He has also had the experience of being on convoy duty, safely guarding Australian and South African troops to theatres of war.

While residing at Halifax he met a Halifax girl whom he married on December 15, 1939.

Father and son now serving with Canada's forces, Herbert McMullen is a member of the Calgary Highlanders stationed at Currie Barracks, Calgary. He joined in July of last year. His father, Melville McMullen, joined the Veteran Guards of Canada in April, 1940, and is now stationed at Kananaskis internment camp. Both men were recently home on furlough.

Union To Nominate Full Slate of Officers in Municipal Elections

Two Councillors and Three Trustees Retiring; Nominations on February 3

It was learned from Mack Stigler, secretary of the local union of the U.M.W.A., on Wednesday morning that the union anticipates nominating a full slate of candidates to fill the posts of two retiring councillors and three trustees.

Councillors retiring are John Atkinson, Sr., and George Jenkins. Councillor Atkinson has served his full term of office, but Councillor Jenkins has served only eight months, having been elected to office June 24, 1940 in the toss-up between Councillor Frank Abousafy, who was elected at the same time as Jenkins, and the position left vacant by Councillor Antrobus who was elected mayor at that time, and who had only eight months left in office as councillor, and Councillor Abousafy succeeded to the position left vacant by Councillor Gentile, who retired with still three years remaining of his term as councillor.

Retiring trustees are Chairman Fraser, Trustees Sharp and Fleming. All three men have served two terms in office. They were first elected in 1936 and again in 1938.

Six Aviators Enjoy Coleman's Hospitality

Enjoy Beauty of the Rockies; Three Aviators Were Americans

Six aviators from Macleod spent the weekend in the Pass and were thoroughly impressed with Coleman's hospitality. Three were from the States, Carl Lambord Briel, Wynd Sweet, Sutton, Mass.; Paul Hubrick, Hartford, Conn.; and John McDonald, of New York, N.Y.; two were from Winnipeg, Corp. T. Rimmer and Corp. McCraig. The other came from Calgary and his name was not known.

They remarked on the beauties of the Rockies and especially the hospitality shown them during their stay in Coleman. Three members of the Legion, Wm. Maynard, Benny Harrison and Robt. Lloyd each took two of the visitors to their homes for supper.

Two of the aviators wrote their names on a souvenir taken from the ill-fated bomber that crashed at Pincher Creek on January 15. The souvenir is made of linen which has been treated to give added strength and then painted in brown and yellow colors. It is now hanging on the club room wall.

Miners Win Lop-Sided Victory Over Bellevue

Bulldogs Minus Several Regulars; No Match for Miners; Poor Crowd in Attendance

A few fans gathered at the arena on Monday evening to watch Miners score their most decisive victory of the 1941 season over league opposition when they smothered Bellevue under an avalanche of goals to win easily by a 9-0 score. Bellevue were minus several regular players and the substitutes failed to halt the merciless attack of the locals. Miners scored twice in the first period, five times in the second and two more in the third. Beddington paced the locals with three goals, Stewart Murdoch got two, and Fields, Fleming, Roughed and Jenkins got one each. The assists on all goals were fairly evenly distributed among the team members.

Cranbrook Defeat Miners 3-1

600 in Attendance; Ice Heavy; Bill Fraser Back in Uniform; Jack Pratt Paces Winners

Jack Pratt, well known professional and for many years a member of Kimberley Dynamiters, led his Cranbrook Rangers to a 3-1 victory over Coleman Miners at the arena on Sunday evening. Six hundred fans, the largest of the season, saw a game which was slowed down considerably by heavy ice.

Pratt scored two of his team's goals. Stan Young, formerly with Turner Valley Oilers and Kimberley Dynamiters, and a baseball pitcher of no mean ability, counted the third Cranbrook goal. Jenkins scored Coleman's lone tally late in the third period.

Pratt sent his team into a one-goal lead in the second period, Young making it 2-0 before the period ended. Pratt sunk the rubber behind Slugg in the second period to make it 3-0. The Cranbrook goalie was kept busy during the rest of the game as Miners stormed around his net. Late in the third period Jenkins scored Coleman's lone tally to make the final score 3-1.

I am down here (Peterborough) with forty-two other engineers from Petawawa taking a six months' course in electricity at the Peterborough Collegiate. We have to put in forty hours a week and do eight hours a day so we do not lose much time. "We are billeted out at private houses and I hit a very good one compared to the camp. "There are some very good lakes and streams around here, so I am going to find time soon to do some fishing. "I am the only one from the Pass who is down here so far, but there may be more coming later. "Give my regards to the boys around there, and hoping The Journal arrives soon—Sapper George Burchell."

Contract Signed For Canadian Wheat To Be Shipped To Spain

London. A contract was signed by the British embassy at Madrid and the Spanish ministry of industry and commerce under which certain quantities of Canadian-grown wheat now in British stores in the United States will be shipped to Spain.

The first shipment of 15,000 tons will leave Baltimore, Md., shortly in Spanish ships.

Negotiation of the contract is regarded as a sign of improved Anglo-Spanish relations and an indication of smooth progress in Anglo-Spanish talks over the status of Tangier.

Britain, as one signatory to the Tangier treaty, took a keen view of the change in the Tangier status when Spain took over sole responsibility for the administration of the zone which had been ruled by an international commission.

Britain is seeking to clear up the matter satisfactorily for the duration of the war, when she is expected to bring it up again for discussion. In the meantime it is reported that Britain is insisting that Spain take no further action in Tangier, and provide compensation for Britons deprived of jobs there.

The extent of further wheat shipments is dependent upon satisfactory conclusion of the Tangier discussions. It is believed an agreement is ready for signing after talks between Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador in Madrid, Ramon Serrano Suñer, Spanish foreign minister, and the British consul at Tangier.

Spain's food situation is described here as bad, with the country reported short of wheat. It is believed the British and United States governments are in close touch in connection with food. The United States embassy at Madrid has said a shipment of American wheat is about to leave for Spain.

Ottawa.—Some 5,500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat en route to Spain is part of the supply purchased from the wheat board by the British import commission, according to Trade Minister MacKinnon.

Although Canada has no direct interest in the arrangement between Britain and Spain under their commercial agreement, Mr. MacKinnon said he was gratified by news of the shipment. He said any disappearance of wheat from this continent would prove helpful to Canada.

Mr. MacKinnon stated the Dominion government had been informed of the British wish to deliver some of the United Kingdom wheat in store to Spain. The purchase of large supplies by Britain was made some months ago and it was not known how much remains in Canada and United States.

Ships For Britain

Ottawa.—A $10,000,000 contract for the building of six large freighters for the British government has been awarded to the Davis Shipbuilding Company. The vessels will be built at Lewis, Que.

Plans Are Developed To Meet The Many Labor Issues Of War

Ottawa.—Representatives of the provincial labor departments conferred with federal Labor Minister McLarty and agreed that, as recommended in the Sirois report, there should be frequent conferences between the Dominion and provincial labor departments.

The meeting occupied most of the day and agreement on the need for future regular conferences was made known in a statement issued from Mr. McLarty's office.

"The provincial ministers stated their complete willingness to co-operate with the Dominion department of labor in developing programs to meet the many present labor issues of the war," the statement said.

Methods of bringing together supply and demand in the labor market were considered and it was recognized that while there was a scarcity of labor in certain provinces, others had workers available in certain occupations, the statement said.

Mr. McLarty told the provincial representatives he would give no commitment as to whether or not any further Dominion aid to the provinces for relief would be granted after the close of the present fiscal year, March 31.

Diplomatic History

Sir Gerald Campbell Named British Minister In Washington

London. Sir Gerald Campbell, high commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada, has been named British minister in Washington, it was announced.

The move makes diplomatic history because it results in two ministers in the United States since Neville Butler, charge d'affaires since the Marquis of Latham died in December, was given ministerial rank Jan. 20.

Informed sources explained, however, that Sir Gerald takes precedence and will act as second in command to Viscount Halifax, Lord Latham's successor.

Informed quarters said Sir Gerald's background makes it desirable that he should be associated with Lord Halifax, even if it involves leaving the important Ottawa post. He will be able to interpret the United States to the former foreign secretary, who enters the work with a thorough understanding of British policy.

Sir Gerald will take up his post on the arrival in Washington of Lord Halifax.

Report To Be Investigated

Soviet Russia Said To Be Planning Large Merchant Fleet

London.—The minister of economic warfare, Hugh Dalton, was said authoritatively to be investigating reports Soviet Russia proposes to form a 200-vessel merchant fleet to carry produce from the Americas to Russia.

This reported intention of Moscow was seen here as of great significance to Britain's attempt to strangle Germany by the blockade, since informed persons say it is clear Russia's trade obligations with the reich cannot be fully met from her own resources unless Russians themselves are to go short.

Imports of oil, cotton and corn for example, would release equivalent quantities for Germany.

Gift To Indian Prince

Plan To Give Aga Khan His Weight In Diamonds

Bombay. The Aga Khan, leader of Ismaili Mohammedans in India, East Africa and Central Asia, will receive as a gift his weight in diamonds, if a campaign started by his followers in Karachi province is successful.

The diamonds, estimated to be worth $25,000,000 would be presented to the Aga Khan in 1945 on the diamond jubilee of his accession to the Moslem spiritual leadership.

His followers contributed twice his weight in gold on his golden jubilee in 1935.

Renewed Hope In France

True Sentiment Of People Grows In Favor Of Britain

London.—Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, said in a British Broadcasting Corporation address the spirit of France is "alive today and growing in vigor."

Britain has evidence the true sentiment in France in favor of Britain is "growing with remarkable rapidity."

This pro-British sentiment, he said, "not unreasonably" is growing more rapidly in occupied France "where the hateful presence of the Germans reminds the people day by day of what they have lost and what is their one hope of regaining it."

Mr. Duff Cooper said the French people were exhausted and stunned last June and the war "seemed to them as though it were over."

"But that is not the mood of France today. For months now they have been contemplating, at first with astonishment, then with dawning hope and now with ever-increasing confidence, the great fight that the British have put up, indomitable resistance against which the might of German aggression is gradually exhausting itself."

The French people now see that for a moment they had lost sight of "that the only hope for the future of France as a free, independent, sovereign state lies in the prospects of British victory."

Supplies For Greece

Canadian Red Cross In London Sends Clothing And Medicine

London.—A large consignment of medical supplies and warm clothing is en route to the Greek fighting front from the Canadian Red Cross in London.

When the request for supplies was received, Canadian Red Cross workers promptly went to work sorting out hospital clothing, bandages, blankets and linen for immediate dispatch to the Balkan war area.

The consignment included 7,000 pneumonia jackets, 20,000 bandages and 50,000 sterilized surgical dressings. Also sent were 120,000 pairs of socks and 6,000 balacava helmets, in view of the intense cold in Albania and the fact Greek hospitals near the war front cannot be sufficiently heated.

At the Greek embassy, from which the supplies were forwarded, a spokesman mentioned the close links between Canada and Greece and said:

"Now your Canadian aviators are doing marvellous work for the army there is an even closer tie. Your generosity with hospital supplies will be doubly appreciated."

Cheese Scarce In Britain

Can Be Served In Restaurants Only As Main Course

London.—Cheese no longer will be served in British restaurants unless it is the main course of a meal, a food ministry official announced in a statement urging the public to eat more potatoes and carrots.

Cheese, already short, will be "scarce" during the next few weeks, the statement said. It expressed hope, however, this year's production, about one-third of the national consumption, would be maintained at the peacetime level.

HON. ANGUS L. MacDONALD

Minister of National Defence for Naval Affairs.

Munitions Production

The Output In Canada To Be Greatly Increased

London.—Expansion of Canada's munitions production is expected to be one of the "major results" of the visit to Britain of Hon. C. D. Howe, Canadian minister of munitions and supply, which is now drawing to a close.

Mr. Howe, who has accepted membership in the British supply council, has described as the purpose of his visit to determine how and where the Dominion can make its fullest material contribution to the war effort.

He has completed a series of conferences with Britain's leaders and said he is "quite satisfied" with results of his discussions. Like other Canadian leaders who have witnessed Britain's war, Mr. Howe is more optimistic than ever over the empire's chances to overwhelm the axis and profoundly impressed by the way the British people are standing up to enemy bombings.

Canada's munitions output is only one of numerous subjects he discussed. He conferred at length with Lord Beaverbrook in connection with aircraft engine production. With admiralty officials he discussed shipping with officials at the ministry of supply.

C. A. Banks, the Canadian ministry's representative abroad, and W. C. Woodward, Mr. Howe's executive assistant, sat in on the conferences. He saw something of the British armaments industry when he accompanied Britain's supply minister, Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, on a tour of various plants. Mr. Howe is said to be "highly gratified" by what he saw of British production.

The minister also had the opportunity to discuss the United Kingdom's timber requirements with supply officials. Because of the closing of the resources of the Baltic areas, Canada is now Britain's most important timber source.

War Costs Mounting

London. Britain's war effort now is costing approximately $61,620,000 a day. It cost $45,000,000 daily in 1940. Army, navy and air force costs combined averaged about $50,000,000 daily in the first 11 days of 1941. The rest went for interest and management, national debt and ordinary expenditures.

Winston Churchill Makes Stirring Appeal For More Armaments

Glasgow. Prime Minister Churchill, with Harry Hopkins, sitting on the platform beside him, declared in an unheralded speech: "We do not require in 1941 large armies from overseas," but added Britain would need "far more" weapons, ships and aeroplanes from the United States than she can pay for.

The prime minister introduced President Roosevelt's special envoy to the audience.

Gesturing to Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Churchill declared: "Mr. Hopkins has come in order to put himself in the closest relation with things here."

"He soon will return to report to his famous chief the impressions he has gathered in our islands. We don't require in 1941 large armies from overseas. What we do require are weapons, ships and airplanes."

"All that we can pay for we will pay for, but we will require far more than we shall be able to pay for."

"And I watch with deep emotion the stirring processes by which the democracy of the great American republic is establishing its laws and formulating its decisions in order to make sure that the British Commonwealth of Nations is able to maintain, as it is maintaining at the present time, the front line of civilization and of progress."

In his speech, Mr. Churchill declared himself confident of Britain's ultimate victory, stated that his aim was to remove Hitlerism from Europe, and insisted that if Hitler had found invasion of Britain difficult in July and August it would become easier by February, March or April.

Britain, he said, has millions of armed men and scores of well-equipped units capable of meeting a landing force and engaging them with good prospects of success.

He told his audience they could hold no hope of an easy passage before us he dangers. I hardly like to say as great as those through which we have passed, but at any rate dangers which, if we neglect anything, will be fatal, mortal.

"Before us he many months of having to endure bombardment of our cities and industrial areas without the power to make equal reply. Before us he sufferings and tribulations. I am not one who pretends that smooth courses are open to us or that our experiences during this year are going to be deprived of terrible characteristics."

"But what the end will be I cannot have the slightest doubt."

"The two dangers are already menacing to feed their people with every kind of optimistic tale, but here we have made up our minds: here we look at facts with unflinching eyes because we are conscious of the rightness of our cause and because we are determined that, whatever the cost, whatever the suffering, we will not fail mankind at this turning point in its fortunes."

Turning to Hitler's invasion chances, Mr. Churchill declared: "That bad man has never had so great a need as he has now to strike Britain from his path. He is master of a great part of Europe. His army can move almost wherever they will upon the continent. He holds down eight or 10 countries by force, by secret police and by still more odious local quislings."

"But every day this occupation of Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France—and presently perhaps Italy—lasts, is built up a volume of hatred for the Nazi creed and for the German which generations and perhaps centuries hardly will efface."

"It is for Herr Hitler a matter of supreme consequence to break down the resistance of Great Britain and thus to effectively shackle the hands he has prepared for the people of Europe. But it is one thing to have a need and another to be able to satisfy that need."

"We in this island stand foursquare in the path of European dictators. Their threats will not appeal to us. It is certain that if Herr Hitler found the invasion of this island difficult in July, he found it more difficult in September, and if he found it difficult in September, it will not have become easier by February or March or April."

"But remember that the price of safety is eternal vigilance. The reason one feels a confidence that the man's concentrated hatred will not be effective against our island is because every one of us is up and doing, is because there will be ceaseless attention paid by all our forces to every sign of enemy preparations and because we know that we now have millions of armed men and scores of well-equipped units capable of meeting a landing force and of engaging them with good prospects of success."

Carried On Message

Rome.—The United States ambassador to Italy, William Phillips, returned to his post without a message, he said, for either King Victor Emmanuel or Mussolini. "I did not bring any special message," the ambassador said.

Accept Tenders

Ottawa.—Finance Minister Halsey announced tenders were accepted for the full amount of $35,000,000 Dominion of Canada treasury bills due April 18, 1941.

Bracken Believes That Commission Report Will Be Up Again

Ottawa. Further consideration of the Sirois report or a satisfactory alternative was predicted by Premier Bracken of Manitoba, in a statement on the Dominion-provincial conference.

He said "such consideration was essential in the interests of the provinces, including those whose ministers and advisers came to Ottawa merely to say that they would not take part in a discussion of the Rowell-Sirois report, even though this was the sole purpose for which the conference was called."

Mr. Bracken's statement follows: For four years we have sought to have Dominion-provincial financial relations placed upon a sound basis in the light of present conditions. At least a method by which this could be achieved was recommended by the Rowell-Sirois commission.

Because a strong system of public finance is an indispensable weapon in modern war, we urged the immediate implementation of this report, not only as a peace time necessity, but as a means by which we could strengthen Canada's war effort.

At the abortive conference which has now just closed, the federal minister of finance made it quite clear that, quite apart from the Sirois report or its implementation, Canada's war needs might likely require the Dominion government to still further invade on an increasing scale the provincial field of taxation. By this process, the provinces would be placed in a worse financial position than that which in time of peace had been sufficiently critical to call for the appointment of the Rowell-Sirois commission of inquiry.

If the report were implemented the provinces would be compensated for this loss of revenue by the Dominion taking over unemployment relief and the provincial debt.

This means that with revenues curtailed by the unavoidable invasion by the Dominion of the provincial field of taxation, the provinces will have to continue to bear burdens which many of them were unable to bear even with unimpaired peace time revenues. The abrupt and unexpected closing of the conference is naturally a disappointment. But we are just as satisfied as we were before that, unless war comes to an early close, the implementation of this report or a satisfactory alternative is essential to our maximum war effort. We venture to predict that this matter will in any event have to be considered again in the interests of the provinces, including those provinces whose full staffs of cabinet ministers and advisers came to Ottawa merely to say that they would not take part in a discussion of the Rowell-Sirois report, even though this was the sole purpose for which the conference was called.

VALUABLE WATCHES GIVEN IN "BEAT HITLER DRIVE"

Railroaders are famous for these excellent watches, so it is not surprising that many fine examples have been given to the Canadian Pacific Railway Employees' Golden Bomber Fund, to buy a $100,000 bombing plane for the R.C.A.F. H. Dubois, Canadian Pacific clockman, examines some of the 160 watches received from Eastern Canada. The watch in his hand was presented to J. C. Griffith by Canadian Pacific engineers in the Canadian Rockies in 1885, and its intrinsic value is so great it will be sold instead of being melted down.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

PUBLIC opinion throughout Canada received a jolt last week over the collapse of the Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa, and repercussions are still being strongly voiced by people in all parts of Canada. The purpose of the conference was to strengthen national unity, and its deliberations were to be based on the recommendations of the Sirois report. The main point is—will Canada be a country of nine provinces each struggling along under the semi-dictatorship of haggling political opportunists, or become the strong Dominion which the Fathers of Confederation envisioned? These crocodile-like tears of one provincial premier stating that full co-operation should be given to Canada's war effort, yet joining with two others in wrecking the conference are just so much eye-wash. Here was a waste of public funds as far as Alberta is concerned. A large party journeyed with the premier to Ottawa, many of whom were "excess baggage." It was quickly revealed when the conference opened that the "three saboteurs" from Ontario, British Columbia and Alberta had no intention of co-operating and led by Hepburn of Ontario, the conference was wrecked. Newspapers which cannot be considered supporters of the Federal government have been emphatic in condemnation of the action of those who wrecked the conference. The People's Weekly, Alberta official organ of the C.C.F., states that "the contemptible attitude of the three premiers will no doubt be greeted with glee by the Montreal Gazette and C. H. Cahill, who have been carrying on a most violent campaign against the Sirois Report, and both of whom speak for the biggest of big business." The Claresholm Local Press editorially states "The people should rise up and demand that the three premiers responsible for the breakdown be made to pay their own expenses to and from Ottawa." But this is what comes of electing little men to big offices."

The Regina Leader-Post characterized it as "Sheer murder; deliberately and cold-bloodedly, Mitchell F. Hepburn sank the dagger of disruption into the back of the undertaking and then with sadistic glee, turned it. He had as his accomplices, both before and after the fact, the premiers of British Columbia and Alberta."

While the Canadian people are as a whole giving the Federal government almost unanimous support in its efforts to strengthen our national ties during wartime, we have the sad spectacle of our own premier, holding office by a minority vote of the people, telling the people in the east that he represents the majority vote of the people of Alberta. This is only the beginning of a battle with Canada for increased national unity against provincial sectionalism.

THE regrettable accident whereby three airmen were injured at Pincher Creek while on an instructional flight from Macleod air training centre, and from which they miraculously escaped with their lives, has brought to light complaints from various parts of the district of annoyance caused by low flying and the hazards attendant thereon. While some incidents may be exaggerated, such as that of the farmer who stated his pigs had become so frightened that they took refuge in the barn and refused to come out, there are other authentic reports that the practice is becoming prevalent, not only here but at other air training centres. From Calgary district comes a report that one adventurous airman found it great sport to herd the cattle from one end of the grazing ground to the other, and kept them stampeding until they broke down fences. Commanding officers of air training schools deal severely with those found guilty of such offences. There may be secret admiration for the daredevil spirit of young fliers who wish to improve their technique, but unfortunately they are liable to bring injury or death not only to themselves but to people on the ground.

TOTALITARIANISM (a word which has become familiar since Hitler started on the rampage) will go under and Democracy will survive. Democracy and freedom are so fundamentally human and instinctive in the human breast that such qualities are bound to survive. Under a national emergency certain democratic rights or privileges may be voluntarily abandoned for the good of the whole people, but eventually the democratic method will be resumed. It has proven so throughout the ages. People will not indefinitely submit as servile races or perform their duties under the dictatorship of overlords. Britons fought and overcame this type of tyranny centuries ago. The people of the United States under the inspired leadership of President Roosevelt again show that their ideals of Democracy will be maintained by giving Britain all possible aid. Germany stole a march on Democratic nations, but the final result will prove that might isn't right, and Hitler will share the fate of Napoleon, probably not banished to the lonely isle of St. Helena, but become so utterly discredited among liberty-loving people that he will pass into the limbo of forgotten men much more quickly than the former German kaiser, now living in exile at Doorn, and not even permitted to live in his own country for which he made war against Britain and France in 1914. How soon will history be repeated?

AN EDITORIAL ON HOW YOU CAN HELP PAY YOUR SHARE OF THE WAR COSTS

We would particularly draw to the attention of our readers, the advertisement appearing in various newspapers, inserted by the income tax division of the department of national revenue, and outlining the new installment plan for payment of income tax. More people in Canada will be required to pay income tax this year than ever before, and many who have never paid it before will this year be paying it for the first time.

Canadians, like their fellow citizens in every part of the empire, are making every possible sacrifice to speed the day when the allied forces will finally and permanently defeat the unprincipled aggressors of the dictator ruled countries, and bring freedom to the downtrodden peoples of the ravaged small nations of Europe. With neutral U.S.A. bending every effort to help our cause, every citizen of this country must do his part in achieving victory.

The government has made possible the payment of income taxes by installments over a period of eight months. Now it should be realized that there is no choice of the eight months in which to pay. If you are to take advantage of the plan, and without payment of interest, you must start payment in January. In the advertisement to which we have referred the income division has set forth in very simple language the details of the plan. It tells you if you are assessable for income tax, it tells you how, and when, and where to pay it, and how much your tax will be.

The man or woman who is eligible for payment of income is throwing money away if he fails to take advantage of the plan presented, so the wisest thing is to take a little time off and study the advertisement thoroughly, so that a proper understanding of the legislation might be obtained.

During the coming year there are going to be many calls upon your patriotism. You will be asked to support the war savings certificate drive in February. You will be asked to assist several war charities in the month of March. You will be asked to buy war bonds, and there will be other calls upon the average man throughout the year. To be able to pay income tax in monthly installments is a special privilege, and every citizen liable for income tax should study the plan, and make arrangements to take advantage of it before the end of this month. Read the advertisement and find out if you have to pay, how much you have to pay, how to pay it, and all the other details connected with income tax.

DISTANCES ARE DECEPTIVE

Two young men of the air force started out to walk towards the mountains. It was a very clear day. Sunday last, fine enough to tempt anyone for a ramble. The mountains appeared very close. Blithely the airmen hiked along the highway westward, until they were overtaken by Mr. Fred O'Mara, who with his wife was taking a leisurely car ride. He asked the hikers where they were going, and they replied they were just taking a walk to the mountains, which they thought were only a few miles distant. However, they gladly accepted Mr. O'Mara's invitation to take a ride, and proceeded to Waterton Lakes Park. They then realized that even a day's steady walking would have taken them less than halfway to the mountains, for on such a clear day a distance of what they thought was only twelve or fifteen miles was over sixty-five.

KEEPING UP WITH THE NEWS

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14.—On any overnight trip by air across Canada, a T.C.A. passenger can read the news in some 12 daily newspapers in the space of 16 hours, all published the same day in nine different cities. Twelve magazines—Canadian, British and American—are aboard each aircraft to keep the traveller abreast of his current reading. Trans-Canada Air Lines places 16 subscriptions for each to meet the requirements of its various services. It subscribes to 20 newspapers. That comprises quite an air library of current literature.

RADIO AIDS HEALTH

IN FAR NORTH
MONTREAL, Jan. 14.—Radio plays an important part in bringing health services to Eskimos, Indians and others in remote sections of the northern Arctic according to Dr. John McComb, chief medical officer, Canadian National Railways. From practically every Arctic post within radio coverage, messages are relayed to Pangnirtung, medical centre for Baffin Island, Hudson Strait, a part of northern Quebec where there is a well-equipped hospital, operated by the Anglican mission with government assistance. A similar institution is operated by the Roman Catholic mission at Chesterfield, which serves the vast area extending north from Churchill to Pelly Bay and eastward to Igloolik.

SGT. AMY CELLI

Sgt. Amy Celli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Celli, of Second Street, is evidently enjoying army life in England, where he has been for several months. He suffered a slight accident some time ago by the concussion of an exploding bomb, but now seems to be O.K. as he never mentions the accident in recent letters.

His father has sent him a number of parcels, but up to the present he has received only one. It is to be hoped that the others reach him safely.

Following is his letter:

Letter From Sgt. Amy Celli
Dear Pop: Just a few lines to let you know of current happenings and that I'm in the best of health, ready to enjoy my Christmas leave in a few days.

I received one of your most welcome parcels yesterday and I want to thank you very much. You wired that you had mailed four of them, but as yet I have only received one which you mailed in Coleman Nov. 7. I'm saving the cake for my Christmas dinner—boy, that really will be a treat!

Say, Pop, what ever possessed you to publish my picture in the paper. One of them was sent here and I have been kidded about it ever since.

Well, we are still enjoying fall weather, a bit damp but not cold. The grass is still green which takes the winter atmosphere away. I guess it is not much use telling you about the war situation here as you get most of it in your dailies.

This is my afternoon off, so if I want to get some washing done, I will have to cut this short. Say hello to everybody at home.

Sgt. Celli.

Theatre Notes

"Invisible Stripes" playing here tonight and Friday is the story of a man branded a criminal trying desperately to once again tread the "straight and narrow," and to eliminate once and for all the accusing finger of society which continually kept pointing him out as having served a sentence in "the big house."

"The Fighting 69th", which plays the Palace at the weekend features James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and George Brent. It is the true story of Father Duffy, famous Catholic priest, with the American forces in the First Great War. He gave his life fighting for peace...

On Tuesday and Wednesday, January 28 and 29, Shirley Temple comes back to Pass theatres in "The Bluebird," a picture filmed in technicolor. It is hailed as the most beautiful picture ever made.

At Cole's theatre at the weekend Spencer Tracy and Robert Young star in "Northwest Passage." A story that explodes with action—yet packed with power to stir the inner heart of every man and woman who sees it—bringing the aching of tears, the joy of love and laughter, the thrill of heroic adventure! Filmed in breathlessly beautiful technicolor, this drama of our savage frontier, brings a great American novel to the heights of screen entertainment.

Simple Enough

In Springfield, Lincoln was once solicited for a contribution to help purchase new equipment for the local fire department. After listening carefully to an explanation of what was needed, he said, "After supper tonight, when Mrs. Lincoln will be in a good humor, I will say, 'How about our giving $50 to the local fire house?' She will answer, 'Abe, when will you ever learn to be more saving of your money? Twenty dollars is enough.'"

The next day the man from the fire station called again, and Lincoln made his contribution—$20! —Christian Science Monitor.

Tourist Traffic To The Arctic

Modern Aircraft Have Revolutionized Travel In The North

Tourist traffic to the western Arctic is increasing, according to the Department of Mines and Resources. Air and water transportation to the mining enterprises in the Mackenzie District are being used by growing numbers of visitors lured by the romance and mystery of the land of the midnight sun. Travel to the northland reaches its peak during the months of June, July, and August when the days are long and warm, and the vegetation is abundant. Except for a few weeks during the spring break-up and fall freeze-up, air transportation is available the year round, while travel over the water routes usually begins early in June and continues until the latter part of September. Hotels are operated at Fort Smith and Yellowknife, and stop-over accommodation is available at Resolution and Akavik.

Modern aircraft, equipped with pontoons in summer and skis in winter have revolutionized travel to the North, and many remote areas which formerly could be reached only after days or weeks of travel by canoe or with dog team are now but a few hours' flying time from large centres of population. The Mackenzie Air Service Limited and the Canadian Airways Limited maintain regular schedules to most parts of the Mackenzie District, operating fleets of heated planes equipped with two-way radio to enable continuous contact with the ground system of wireless stations maintained throughout the Territories. The flight from Edmonton, Alberta, or Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, to Yellowknife by way of Fort Smith or Goldfields may be made in a few hours, and from Yellowknife air transportation is also available to Port Radnor on Great Bear Lake and Coppermine on Coronation Gulf.

Steam and Diesel-powered boats operate from the end of steel at Waterways, Alberta, and travellers may make the 1,600-mile trip down the Athabasca and Slave Rivers to Great Slave Lake and thence down the mighty Mackenzie River to Akavik. The Hudson's Bay Company and the Northern Transportation Company both maintain passenger boat service, and other boat trips are available, including that to the Yellowknife mining area on the north shore of Great Slave Lake. Visitors to Akavik can arrange for air transportation across the mountains to the population centres of Yukon and Alaska from whence the return journey may be made by coastal steamers plying up and down the Pacific Coast.

Saws were used in Egypt several thousand years before the birth of Christ.

Influenza Epidemic

Spreading Over Areas In Canada And United States

An epidemic of influenza appears to be current in North America. It is going on with considerable intensity in some areas in the United States and Canada, and will probably take in most of the continent before it runs its course. There is, however, little occasion for alarm. From present indications, it is not of the virulent type which took so high a death toll in the post-war years 1918 and 1919.

Health authorities know considerably more about influenza now than they did then. The viruses causing the malady have been isolated by researchers, who are now patiently engaged in trying to find a preventive or a cure, or both. The viruses discovered, at any rate, are two in number. One causes the mild, sniffly, headachy, nuisance flu, which is, fortunately, not often serious if properly looked after. The other—that which struck in 1918-19—is a killer.

Medical science does not yet know how to control epidemic influenza of either sort. It is trying hard to find out, however, and already a vaccine against the dangerous type of flu has been developed. It works in the case of some animals. It may work in the case of human beings, although the doctors and public alike are hopeful that it will not have to be tried. There is also the miracle-working sulfa-mide which, with its derivatives, has already done so much in battling a whole catalogue of diseases, pneumonia included. Its possibilities with regard to influenza are also being tested and considered.

So, while one kind of influenza remains an expensive, uncomfortable, wage-reducing malady and the other is still gravely dangerous, the day may not be far distant when medical science will be able to put both of them on the "controlled" list. The Expositor, Brantford.

Ancient Greece Lives Again

The Old War Cry Of The Fighters Of Marathon Is Again Heard

Every Greek soul is now experiencing a mental commotion, a shock which conjures ancient horizons, the epoch when the Creator of the Universe and the mother of civilization and liberty had established the only forces that were spreading splendid virtues and truths all over the world; the epoch in which God gave to Greece the flame of knowledge and the privileges of freedom, civilization and fortitude and self-sacrifice. And on bent knees we blessed the moment when it pleased God—the great God of Heliopolis—to decide that the Greek homeland should take part in the holy struggle for the freedom of nations and for the preservation of human civilization, the holy struggle which Great Britain and her people are pursuing with admirable heroism, the holy struggle which that glorious nation, the United States, is supporting in a spirit of sacrifice.

Ancient times have risen again. The old war cry of the fighters of Marathon now alternates with another call which re-echoes from one corner of the globe to the other: Long Live Greece—"Estia" (The Hearth), Greek-language monthly magazine, Montreal.

Empire's Newest Arsenal

Growth Of India As A War Supply Centre

From Suez to Singapore stretches a great theatre of war, vital to the British Empire. The destiny of Australia and New Zealand, of India, Burma and Malaya, of the East African and Far Eastern territories depends upon it.

The swift growth of India as a war supply centre for the whole of the Suez-Singapore area is one of the most remarkable signs of the British Empire's world-wide power and solidarity.

India is making rifles and machine guns, small arms ammunition, sutlery and blankets, armour plating and shells, artillery up to 6 in. guns and 6 in. howitzers, anti-aircraft guns and bombs and mines. Soon she will be making aeroplanes.

Since the beginning of the war India has sent overseas 100,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, 200,000 shells, 6,000 rifles, 4,500,000 sandbags 3,000,000 yards of khaki drill, 150,000 pairs of boots, 20,000 greatcoats, and 20,000,000 yards of medical gauze.

All the present steel requirements of the Middle East and Iraq can be met by Indian steelworks.

Morale Of Galley Slaves Being Produced Among Italian Troops

The Sydney Post-Record says garbled and spurious reports of Premier Churchill's radio speech to Italy were printed, along with cynical comment and fallacious argument, by Mussolini's newspapers at Rome. The Fascist system, it seems, requires that Italians be forced to fight on pain of being shot by their commanding officers, and that they be fighting in ignorance of why they are fighting and what they are fighting for. That inhuman system is producing precisely the kind of morale among the Italian troops in Albania and Libya that prevailed among the galley-slaves of ancient Rome.

YOUTHFUL WRAPAROUND FROCK

By Anne Adams

First vote of every housewife goes to the wrap-around dress! In Pattern 4626, Anne Adams shows an unusually well-designed version of this favorite. The trim basque with V-neckline is young and attractive; the wrap-around style is easy to get into, simple to make and fine for flat-ironing. That quickly adjusted over-front gives almost full-length double protection. You simply cross it over the under-front, button it on the left shoulder, slip the belt through at the right side seam and tie it firmly in back. Attractively dressed, you are still ready for the spiciest kind of work—and the double lap of the skirt makes wearing a slip unnecessary. The sleeves are long or short.

Pattern 4626 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40. Size 16 takes 4½ yards 35 inch fabric and ½ yard necktie. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Cannot Buy Much

Nazis Have Cut Clothing Rations In Norway Very Closely

Norway's new clothing ration permits a man to buy only one new suit and short or their equivalent in undergarments a year, a digest received at Berlin disclosed.

The digest, appearing in the Deutsche Zeitung, said a clothing ration card contained 300 points for one year. A man's suit takes 240 points and a shirt 60.

A warm coat for a woman costs 200 points, while a cotton summer coat requires 150, a wool dress 120, and a pair of stockings 15.

Fountain pens are now so good they can survive anything except a few minutes' use by a borrower.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 26

CHRIST'S CONCERN FOR THE LOST

Golden Text: The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost. Luke 19:10. Lesson: Luke 15. Devotional reading: John 10:11-18.

Explanations and Comments

The Indevitably Lost, Luke 15: 3-7. Jesus "spoke unto them this parable" which consists of two illustrations and one story, all of which told his critics that God loves the sinner and is unwearied in his efforts to reclaim him, and had sent his Son to seek and to save the lost, Luke 19:10. What one of them would not leave ninety-nine sheep that were safe and go after the one that was lost? Jesus asked. The word translated "wickedness" means "unlawful lands" which were the pasture lands. When the shepherd finds the lost sheep, he puts it across his shoulders the correct way in which to carry it) and returns rejoicing. So great is his joy that he must have others share it with him, and he calls together his neighbours and neighbours and bids them rejoice with him. Grief can take care of itself, says Mark Twain, but to get the full value of it you must have somebody with whom to divide it.

"Even so there shall be more joy in heaven over one sinner that is repented than over the recovery of a righteous man," Jesus enforced his lesson, "than over ninety and nine righteous persons who need no repentance." So the mother rejoices more over the recovery of a sick child than she does over the health of all her other children. The "righteous persons" were the Pharisees, who so regarded themselves; they trusted in themselves that they were righteous and set all others at naught, Luke 18:9.

How does the sheep get lost? It gets lost inadvertently. It has hardly sense enough to have the intention to get lost. It is not a planned affair. The sheep is lured from safety into peril by toothsome morsels of pasture, and thus drifts into the vicinity of the wild beasts. There are some people who are so lost. To them the recovery of a sick child is no great feat. They are people plenty of them, who are tricked and fooled into going wrong. Many and many a girl goes astray who never intended to, never. There were some specious promises that she could get back again. Many a lad who leaves the path of integrity never meant to do it. He was fooled and misled. He got off this world blind of his eyes. His senses deluded him. So people get lost inadvertently and without intention" (Charles Brown).

Strange Situations

Curiosities Of Laws Passed At Various Times In U.S.

A Washington business review calls attention to these queer facts:

1. United States ships can carry goods to Japan, but not to Canada. 2. Japan and Russia can buy goods in the United States on better terms than are possible for Canada and Great Britain.

3. Money can be loaned of Mexicans, Brazilians and Peruvians, but not to Englishmen, although we have rubber cheques from all of them in our cat-and-dog box.

These and other curiosities of politics and policy are mostly effects of laws passed at various times by politicians carrying favor with party lobbies, and mindful of the fact that the ordinary American voter is never interested in such matters except in periods of national emergency.

One of the most necessary steps in a defence program is to clean out the lawbooks. Isn't it about time that Congress got out the brooms and dusters? Chicago Daily News.

Story Of Titania's Palace

Late Sir Neville Wilkinson Got Idea From His Daughter

The late Sir Neville R. Wilkinson got the idea for his famous Titania's Palace in 1907 after he retired from his regiment, the Coldstream Guards, with which he fought in the Boer War. He was sketching in the woods near Dublin when his three-year-old daughter announced that she had seen a fairy disappear behind the gnarled roots of a tree. The girl begged her father to build a palace for the fairy. Sir Neville, who liked to tinker set to work. Eventually he put 4,000 pieces of furniture and decorative objects into the palace, none more than four inches high, including bronze gilded chests with perfect locks, tiny cannon, a bathtub, mosaic bathroom ceiling of 250,000 separate pieces, drinking glasses a quarter of an inch high and all the other lavish appointments and furnishings of a royal palace. The palace could be taken apart and shipped in boxes.

BLOOD DONORS WANTED

It was the late Dr. Bruce Robertson of Toronto, working in a casualty clearing station in France during the last war, who developed the use of blood transfusion for the relief of shock and loss of blood, which since that time has saved countless thousands.

Until quite recently the blood used was required to be from persons of the same blood type as that of the recipient, that is, if the latter's blood was of Type A, the blood of the donor must also be of Type A.

Now thanks to researches made in the Connaught Laboratories, Toronto, by the physiologist there, Dr. Charles Best, and his associates, a new and much simpler product is used in general use. This is the dried serum or plasma of the blood. Dr. Best has been sending this dried blood plasma overseas for the last year. Plans are now underway for an extensive supply, and in order to facilitate the provision for this supply blood is being called for from 2,000 donors.

Fluid blood, in what is known as blood banks, will keep only for about two weeks. The plasma—the light-colored fluid which rises to the top of a collection of blood—is drawn off and dried to a powder. This powder contains all the requisites needed for transfusion. It keeps indefinitely and all that is necessary to make it ready for use is to add the proper amount of sterile water. The new product is convenient, readily transported and the doctor using it may forget all he has learned about the former necessity of using blood only from a person with the same type of blood as the patient.

Three months ago the Connaught laboratories obtained a vacuum machine for making the powdered blood. This machine—the first of its kind in America—cost $5,000. By means of this machine the blood serum is rapidly separated from its contained water and dried in the frozen state. There will now be no difficulty in obtaining the needed 2,000 donors. The students of the University themselves will be able to provide a large number of donors. It is impossible to envisage the importance of this discovery to soldiers, sailors and others who suffer from the consequences of war.

Using Secret Device

Canadians Learn How To Spot Airplanes And Find Range

Brilliant young Canadian students, trained at the University of Toronto are operating a "secret device" used in spotting enemy airplanes over Great Britain, according to Prof. E. F. Burton of the University.

He said he knows nothing of the details of the operation of the device but it involves the use of an advanced knowledge of radio. Training in this field is being given at the university and the men are then sent overseas for advanced training in Britain, he added.

"It is not a weapon," Prof. Burton emphasized, "but a means of spotting airplanes and finding their range. It involves use of advanced knowledge of radio. That is the training we give them."

He said the need is great at present for hundreds of young men with any knowledge of radio.

"It may make the difference between winning and losing the war," Dr. P. A. Sarjeant, president of the Riverdale Kiwanis Club, told the club that eleven young university graduates trained last summer through the club's efforts now are operating the secret device. He said the device was one reason why the threatened Nazi invasion of Britain had not taken place.

CHAPTER III.

The ringing of the cheap alarm clock at half-past six was like an unexpected blow. Nancy Thorne rubbed her eyes sleepily and wondered what on earth she was hearing. After a minute the clock stopped ringing of its own accord and in the silence she opened her eyes and looked around her, trying to remember where she was.

Suddenly she remembered. The clock—she had bought it the night before at the drugstore and set it for 6:30, allowing herself an hour at a half before she must arrive at the offices of the John Bristow Die Casting Company.

With a sudden start she sprang out of bed and stood shivering in the cold morning air. It had been late before she had dropped off to sleep, and now she felt unbearably drowsy. The bed, for all its gray, patched sheets and mountain-range mattress, was now wonderfully, unbelievably inviting.

She didn't have to do this, she reminded herself. It would be so easy—but no, she told herself sternly, the decision had already been made. She would not change her mind now.

She struggled sleepily into the padded robe that had been the envy of the girls in the sorority house, felt under the bed for her slippers and went down the hall to the dingy, green-painted bathroom, only to find that there was something but painfully cold water in which to bathe. She sponged her face, straightened and combed her red-gold curls and went back to her room to wrestle with her next problem—what to wear to the office.

At last she settled on a soft wool dress, smartly and beautifully made.

a delicate sage green. The beige suede sandals were the only shoes she could wear with it, she decided, a deeper beige hat, doekin gloves. She hoped her clothes would not be too conspicuous in the office of the John Bristow Company.

By the time she left the house she had become terrified at the thought of being late. When at last she stood waiting for the street car, her breakfast had consisted of a hastily gulped cup of coffee and a half-eaten roll.

A street car came thundering by, she took a quick glance at it and let it pass. Even the platforms were jammed with men and girls on their way to work, a few brave souls clung to the steps. Another came along in the same condition, and she realized that she might as well take it as the next one. She pushed her way onto the platform, struggling to keep from falling under the feet of the crowd, found a bar with space for her gloved hand and clung to it desperately.

An hour later she sat at her desk, industriously copying the pile of reports Miss Fletcher had given her. No use trying to understand them now. She was only concerned with not making mistakes.

At midmorning she heard whispers behind her, intended for her ears.

"These rich society girls give me a pain. Wanting to take a job just for a thrill and some poor, hard-working kid like Luella Hill gets fired to make a place for her."

"Oh, well, don't worry. She won't last a week."

At 10:30 a bell rang sharply and a cart loaded with milk and chocolate milk appeared at the door of the office. Nancy sat at her desk watching the girls as they crowded around the cart laughing and talking, feeling almost unbearably lonely.

There was another whisper, too.

"Pipe the clothes Miss Smooty wears, will you?"

"Did you get a look at those stockings? Bet she pays more for her stockings than we earn in a week."

Nancy glanced quickly at the girls by the milk-cart and at the clothes they wore, smart little dresses, neat and fresh, but obviously inexpensive. The sage-green woollen dress she wore more than she could earn in a week of working here. But it would be the last one she would ever buy. She brushed quickly at the tears that rose to her eyes, wondering a little bitterly what the girls in the office would say if they knew she wore those specially made chiffon stockings because she simply didn't have money to buy others.

"Work pile up on you, kid? She looked up suddenly into a pair of friendly, blue eyes set in a grinning, freckled, Irish face. Somehow she managed to return the grin.

"It's all awfully new to me."

"Don't let it get you down. You're Nancy Ellis, aren't you? My name's Annie Burke. Say, look. If you keep feeding those reports into the typewriter right behind each other like this—here, let me show you—"

With a few deft motions she showed Nancy how to make that pile of reports disappear faster.

"Don't mind these kids," she said sympathetically. "They're sore because they think Lou Hill was canned just to make a job for you. They'll get over it, just you wait." She glanced quickly around, saw that no one was within earshot, and added in a whisper: "To tell the truth, I have my own ideas why she got the gate."

Nancy looked up with sudden interest. What had John Bristow said? Something about Louella Hill—she had been fired for reasons that couldn't be publicly explained.

"What do you mean?" Nancy whispered.

"You're new here, babe, but you'll learn. Say, you don't have any idea how some of this stuff here is guarded?"

"Guarded?"

"Yeah. Look. There's some work done out at this plant that's darned important. And believe me, they're mighty careful that nothing should happen to it. I have a hunch that Lou Hill—"

The head stenographer's voice cut sharply into the whisper. "If you're through making a social call, Annie—"

"Okay, Miss Fletcher."

Nancy began typing furiously, her cheeks burning. She felt rather like a little girl who has been scolded in the schoolroom for whispering.

Was Annie Burke right about this Louella Hill? Was the work done at the Bristow plant so important, then? She remembered what she had seen the day before, the black sedan that had darted out from a side street toward a Bristow truck.

Noon. Again the shrill sound of the bell, in the distance the melancholy sound of whistles. A concerted rush toward the mirror in the washroom. Another rush toward the luncheon.

Avoiding the crowd of girls, Nancy washed her hands, straightened her hair and went down to the luncheon room. As the rush slackened a little she edged up to the counter, got a sandwich and a bottle of milk, and managed to find a seat by herself at the end of one of the long tables.

She forgot her troubles and began wondering about Tom. Only last summer he had spent weeks with them at Lake Geneva, spending his days boating with Pat, his evenings dancing with her. For a minute the drab surroundings of the luncheon room faded from sight as she thought of those evenings, dancing with Tom, walking along the lake shore with Tom, watching the stars with Tom. Yet yesterday, when she had met him in the factory, he had seemed not to recognize her.

For that matter, what was Tom doing here? He, of all people, didn't need to work in the Bristow Die Casting Company for a living. She could think of no explanation.

Everything was very hard to understand.

She had finished her lunch and was preparing to leave the table when Tom himself appeared, a friendly smile on his lean, brown face.

"Hello, Miss Ellis."

She looked up, startled. "Oh—hello."

"Well, how do you like it here?"

She managed a smile. "Fine."

He nodded politely. No explanation of his behavior of the day before. Yet she had a strange idea that his gray eyes were signalling some message to her, warning her to watch her words.

"I'd like you to meet a friend of mine. Miss Ellis—Mr. Blake, Hugo Blake."

Nancy looked curiously at the stranger. He was a man of average height, with broad, square shoulders and long, muscular arms. His hair was heavy and very blonde, his face seemed amiable and rather dull, and he wore thick-lensed, rimless glasses. "Hugo's a great friend of mine," Tom said.

She managed to acknowledge the introduction, wondering what to say. After a word or two about the weather, the crowded conditions of the street cars and the difficulties of getting started in a job at the Bristow plant, the two men moved on.

Nancy picked up her purse and prepared to follow them toward the stairs. Suddenly she caught a few words in Tom's voice that stopped her dead in her tracks.

"Wonder what old man Bristow would think if he knew that girl was working here under a phony name?"

"Phony name?" It was Hugo Blake who spoke, in a guarded tone.

"Sure. I know her. Real name's Thorne. And, believe me, I'm surprised she's not cutting Bristow's throat instead of working for him."

"Why?"

"I'll tell you why. Old man Bristow ruined her father—you know, John Thorne—it was in all the papers. Now she's out here in the office, calling herself Nancy Ellis. I bet if Bristow knew it she'd be—"

For a moment Nancy stood rooted to the spot, speechless with anger. How dared Tom Cantwell talk about her personal affairs like that and give away her secret! She would never speak to him again, no never!

In the next moment her anger cooled before another, sudden thought. What Tom had just said—it had been said with some very definite purpose.

Why should Tom Cantwell do such a thing?

Kept In Circulation

Much Of Money Being Spent Is Returned In Wages

The Peterborough Examiner says: A correspondent who does not sign his name has written to the Examiner saying that the people cannot keep on paying at the present rate. As a rule such a letter would go into the waste basket, but there is one phrase which needs attention. This:

"We can't keep on putting up three million per day, for we will soon be drained dry."

The answer to that comes partly in a survey carried on by managers of the Canadian Bank of Commerce some time ago when they secured pay-roll information from industry, trade, logging, mining, construction and transportation. The result of that survey was to show that wages of 1940 were $400,000,000 in excess of those paid out in 1939. Not only were more men working but in many cases it was recorded that higher wages were being paid. The 1940 pay-roll is conservatively estimated at $1,730,000,000, and that is a 30 per cent. increase over 1939.

A great deal of the enormous sums being spent is going back to our own people in the shape of wages, and that means it is remaining in the war-time condition, and admit as well it does not cancel the indebtedness of our government, but while money circulates freely we are not likely to face disaster.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

SELF-CONTROL

British Post War Plans

Will Not Tolerate The Tragic Spectacle Of Abject Poverty

The British government plans to eliminate ugliness in English towns and replace hovels remaining after the war with worthy homes, Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio in the war cabinet, said in a broadcast speech.

Mr. Greenwood, chairman of a cabinet committee planning post-war reconstruction, said "British will not tolerate the tragic spectacle of abject poverty, for the existence of that problem of industry—the scourge of unemployment."

"It will be the pride of the nation to succor citizens who, during the war or afterwards, fall on evil days through bereavement, disability, disease, or old age," the minister declared.

A picture of a post-war world in which "nations" will work out their own salvation," was drawn by Mr. Greenwood.

"To carry out the fundamental objectives of democracy, opportunities for aggression must be restrained by the combined will and organization of those nations which stand for orderly progress and against the technical exercise of power," he said.

Royal Bank Report

Business In Canada Attains The Highest Point On Record

Mr. S. G. Dobson, General Manager of the Royal Bank, speaking at the annual meeting in Montreal, made the following comment:

"Business in Canada has reached the highest point of all time, because of the tremendous impetus it has received as a result of Government contracts connected with our war effort, but it has not yet reached its peak. Additional projects are being undertaken or in contemplation, which will have a further stimulating effect upon our economy, so that we may look forward to increased banking activity during 1941. The Royal Bank is fully equipped to take care of all additional demands which may be made upon it to finance or otherwise handle this increased activity and thus contribute its share to Canada's war effort."

"Our first object is to win this war. The might of the Empire in men, material and weapons is gathering increased momentum; our morale is high. Our duty on Canada's home front may seem very simple, even tame, compared with the experiences of our kinsfolk in Britain, but it is vitally important. Our posts call for work, confidence, and self-denial. With these qualities, and a settled determination to back our country's war effort by every means in our power as the opportunity opens up to us, there can be no doubt of our ability to win."

The report shows a healthy development throughout the past year: Profits amounted to $3,526,894 and $2,800,000 was distributed in dividends.

The bank has continued the policy of restricting expenditures on bank premises to extensions and renovations, no new buildings having been constructed during the year.

HUCKALA—BURTNIK

The wedding took place Wednesday morning at the Holy Ghost church of Ethel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Burtinik, of Coleman, to Joe Huckala, of Blairmore. Attendants were Miss Maureen McLellan, of Coleman, and Mr. John Chala, of Blairmore. Rev. Father Leo Sullivan conducted the ceremony.

The bride was dressed in a pink satin gown and a pink chapel veil with a coronet. Her bouquet was of calla and talisman roses.

The bridesmaid wore a blue net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with only immediate friends and relatives being present. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

Miners Trounce Lethbridge 7-3 In Fast Game

Jenkins Paces Locals With Three Goals; Game Featured by Scrap; Bill Fraser Stars.

400 fans were treated to the best game of the season last night as Miners out-played and out-scored the league leading Lethbridge Juniors to win an easy 7-3 decision, the first over the Juniors this season. Stamina to maintain the fast pace kept Miners in the driver's seat throughout the game.

The Fraser-Jenkins combination was working in its old time form, resulting in Jenkins getting three goals and one assist, and Fraser one goal and three assists. W. Trotz, Fields and Pietroszko scored the other Miners goals. Tennant with two and Negrello with one scored for the Juniors.

The old time rivalry that featured the Canadians and Maple Leaf games burst forth again last night. In the first period the referee and Lethbridge manager got into an argument and started to push each other around. This was quickly stopped by the players. In the third there was a real scrap when Garrett, husky Miners defenceman, and Negrello started to throw punches. Members of both teams stepped in and separated them. Both players were given major penalties.

Miners took a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by W. Trotz, who played a good game, and Bill Fraser who shot home Pietroszko's rebound. They increased their lead to 4-1 in the second period on goals by Fields and Pietroszko. Tennant put Lethbridge on the score sheet mid-way through the period. In the third period a penalty to Speaker gave Miners the opportunity to tear in on the Lethbridge net and Jenkins scored two goals twenty three seconds apart. Following the miniature riot between Garrett and Negrello, Jenkins came back for his third goal, Fraser feeding him a perfect pass. Juniors put on a sustained power attack during the last five minutes and scored twice, on goals by Tennant and Negrello.

Moose Jaw Hockey Club Here Saturday

Arrangements were completed on Wednesday to have Moose Jaw hockey club play an exhibition game against the Miners here on Saturday night, face-off at 9:30.

The Saskatchewan club is on a tour and is scheduled to play Cranbrook on Monday and Kimberley on Tuesday.

Little is known of the club but it is expected that it will be capable of putting up a good game. Miners' play has improved considerably over previous games and a thrilling game is anticipated.

Rev. R. K. Naylor, of Montreal, is spending to-day (Thursday) at the home of his brother, Mr. James Naylor. Rev. Naylor was on business trip to Winnipeg and decided to come further west to spend a short visit with his brother.
